CANNERY OWNER URGED TO KEEP MAN AT PLANT

Fire Association Urges Retention of Night Man at Niles

A request that he maintain the night watchman at his idle cannery at Niles was sent to Max E. Shuckl, of the Shuckl Canning Company, this week by the Alameda County Firemen's Association, when that organization learned that the cannery official was contemplating removal of the night patrol, and boarding up the plant.

Brought to the attention of the firemen's group at their meeting last week by Clarence Crane, the proposed action was declared unsafe by President Fank Madruga, who stated that the entire town of Niles would be jeopardized in event of a major blaze in the abandoned buildings. The association is awaiting word from Shuckl on the matter.

With more than 100 at the association meeting last week at Castro Valley, Madruga stated this week that interest in the that there will be informative meeting is rising. He stated speakers and possibly educational motion pictures at all meets during 1935. The value of the instruction to the small volunteer departments is immense, Madruga said.

Standing committees for the year were named at the meeting, with members of Washington township departments figuring prominently. Sam Short, of Oakland, will lead the entertainment group. Roland Bendel, of Decoto, is chairman of the membership committee, with Mat Whitfield, of Mission San Jose, and Fred Rogers, of Centerville, as his assistants. Chief Joe Pashote, of Newark, is head of speakers committee, with Tony Alves, of Niles, as his co-worker. Roland Bendel is also a member of the publicity and promotional committee.

Madruga said that he is hoping to have a huge picnic for the firemen and their wives and families at Mission San Jose some time during the summer.

JUNIOR CHAMBER DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT AT GARDEN

With final preparation being made for their great pre-lenten dance, to be given this Saturday night, at the Garden of Allah, Niles, members of the Niles Junior Chamber of Commerce are confident that their affair will break all attendance records.

Advertised far and wide in the east bay with the help of other junior chambers, the dance should top the list of outstanding social events of the spring season.

Ticket sales have topped the three hundred mark, according to George Lucas, committee head. This amount, coupled with the heavy sales expected at the door, should see a multitude of over five hundred in attendance.

Music will be by Campos' Sunny Californians, popular south county orchestra.

LeRoy Moora, small son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Moora, is reported recovering from an attack of influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Solon and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Dias spent a week-end at Long Barn, in the Sierra Nevadas recently.

HOPES DIMMED FOR RE-LOCATION OF ZONE MARKER

Hopes for re-location of one speed zone marker at the west end of Niles, faded for the Niles Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday afternoon, when a representative of the California Division of Highways called to inspect the sign in question.

The representative pointed out to James Delury, chairman of the Junior Chamber Improvement Committee that the existing sign was placed according to rules prescribed in the state vehicle act, and could not legally be changed. He added that it would be impossible to erect an additional 25-mile zone, due to lack of a definite residential district, to which such signs are limited.

The new civic group had been eager to have the offending sign moved, considering it a menace to life and property. It will be changed as the business district expands, Delury said.

Next regular meeting of the junior group will be held Monday evening at the Coffee Cup restaurant in Niles. The time will be 7:00 o'clock p. m.

Sam Kerns, president of the civic organization, stated that numerous new projects will be brought up for general discussion.

BOOKS THEME OF COUNTRY CLUB MEET TUESDAY

The members of the County Club of Washington Township will hear an expert discussion of new books Tuesday afternoon, when Mrs. Edward A. Mitchell, of Oakland, appears before the township group as the main speaker on an interesting program. She will be accompanied by Miss Mary Barmby, county librarian.

Continuing the same theme, in a comparison of the reading tastes of the present and past generations, there will be two short talks given. The first, by Mrs. A. B. Haley, will be on "Books I Read When I Was a Girl;" the second talk, by Miss Inma Hodges, will be "Books I Read."

Final reports of the stage committee will be the main business of the afternoon. Bids for construction of the stage were asked last week.

The musical program for the afternoon, under the direction of Mrs. E. Dixon Bristow, will consist of vocal selections by Mrs. A. E. Sparkes, popular San Jose singer. She will be accompanied at the piano by Miss Margaret Ball, music instructor at the Peter Burnett school in San Jose. Both artists were secured for the club through the cooperation of W. P. Cransie, principal of the San Jose school.

Two Mountain Lions Slain Near Calaveras

Dan Macarthy, of San Francisco Water Department patrol in the Calaveras dam district, reported last week that two large mountain lions had been taken in the hills east of the lake. The big cats, although not a serious menace to cattle, are consistent killers of deer.

"BODY" IN ROAD SCARES DRIVERS NEAR UNDERPASS

Attention of local officials was called to a dangerous manifestation of small-boy ingenuity recently, when motorists complained that they had been scared out of their wits by life-like dummies sprawled on the highway near the west underpass, Niles.

The badgered drivers are said to have stated that they came upon the nerve-racking "body" just as they rounded the wide turn into the subway, and narrowly missed a crash into the heavy concrete ramp in their effort to avoid it.

Heretofore, pranks at the underpass had been confined to pouring water on passing cars, and to batting motorists with fake purses and tires.

Mrs. Jack Biale, of Niles, one of the drivers who narrowly averted a crash in trying to dodge the "corpse", reported the happening to Night Watchman Arthur Roderick, who enlisted the aid of Louis Di Giulio the following night and investigated.

This time the pranksters had a "new" tire in the road. Roderick and Di Giulio collared one of the miscreants after a wild chase and obtained the names of his accomplices. All have been warned to cease their dangerous nocturnal play. Roderick withheld the names.

MAY BE EIGHT TEAMS IN NEWLY FORMED LEAGUE

Five Definitely Listed In League, Officials Say This Week

Possiblity that the newly formed South County Baseball League will start the spring season with eight teams is seen following the second meeting, held at the Centerville courthouse last Thursday evening.

The Newark J and F's, Alvarado, Niles, Pleasanton and the I. D. E. S. teams have definitely stated their intention to participate. Decoto will enter if team problems can be straightened out. Livermore's team, approved by Coach Bill Fisher, is being formed, and Irvington, rapidly becoming a strong nine, signifies its desire to join up.

H. L. Scott, who conceived the idea of the league, says that the teams are shaping up nicely, and that the future of the league looks bright.

At the meeting last Thursday, tentative plans were adopted, limiting the number of players on each squad to fourteen, and confining eligibility to players who reside in the district, which will take in territory from Alvarado to Livermore. The I. D. E. S. team will be allowed to use players from as far south as Wayne station, providing the men used are members of the I. D. E. S. organization. No player who has been playing organized baseball during the last two years will be eligible, players in the state league to be exceptions. This will prevent use of minor and major league men, out of the class of the local boys.

Scott said that the league play should begin during the first part of April, when local nines will be finished with their present schedules.

Speakers at the meeting were A. A. Macy, president of the Baseball Managers' Association, and Charles Tye, secretary. Manuel Duarte, well-known in baseball circles, also addressed the group.

The next meeting of the officials and managers will be held in Niles, at the old I. O. O. F. hall, across from the post office, on the evening of Thursday, March 7 Scott stated yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Petsche were visitors in Oakland on Washington's birthday.

PERMIT NECESSARY FOR LABOR CAMPS IN COUNTY

Labor camp conditions and management during the coming harvest season must comply with state regulations, according to rules listed this week by Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch, in a message to south county growers and labor contractors.

Radbruch stated that the necessary permits required to establish a camp may be obtained from him, from the sheriff's office at the Hayward city hall, or from Deputy District Attorney Robert Hunter, at the district attorney's office in Oakland. Permits are required for all camps made up of more than two families.

Among the rules are those requiring an adequate water supply, proper disposal of garbage and sanitary sewage. There must be a man delegated to keep the camp in order and see to its cleanliness at all times. The tents must be arranged in orderly street rows, and not in a haphazard fashion, Radbruch said, adding that it was at the discretion of the board of supervisors to refuse a permit to anyone they deemed incapable of conducting a camp properly.

To abate danger of rioting in the fields this season, the county officials will keep a steady patrol.

HARVEST SEASON TO GET UNDER WAY SOON

Commercial shipments of peas out of southern California will begin about April 1, according to indications noted by Farm Advisor T. O. Morrison last week. Trucking shipments of the early varieties should begin about March 15 from the Warm Springs and Niles area.

Other crops in the south county taking the attention of growers are spinach, which will be ready for cutting around April 1; rhubarb, which is ripening rapidly and should be shipped within the next week; the February cauliflower harvest is in full swing and beet growers are awaiting approval of their AAA control contracts by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, with general planting under way by provision of the Holly Sugar Corporation and assurance of AAA approval.

In the apricot orchards, horticulturists are preparing for their annual bordeaux spraying, with blossoms well out in some sections.

Cot growers stated that rain within the next few days will do little harm, but that continued showers will do damage to the crop. Ideal weather for a good blossom set would be mild and sunny weather for several weeks hence, farmers declare.

KILLED YESTERDAY IN FALL FROM PILE-DRIVER

Terribly hurt when he fell from the top of a high pile driver in the marsh west of Newark yesterday afternoon, Walter Michel, 29, of 536 Callan street, San Leandro, died before medical aid could be summoned.

Michael was one of a Hetch Hetchy crew driving piles to support the huge pipeline. He has no kin west of Paris, Idaho, where his parents live. He was engaged to be married to a San Leandro girl in June.

ANNUAL ELECTION OF OFFICERS FOR CHAMBER MONDAY

Installation Ceremony To Take Place at Same Meeting Date

Election and installation of officers, and outline of work for the new year, will be the main business before the Niles Chamber of Commerce next Monday. Nominations for the officers opened last week, were voted closed Monday, with indications pointing to the election of Dr. E. C. Grau to the presidency this time.

Consideration of two letters, discussing pending legislation occupied the businessmen Monday. The first, a communication urging support of a new state tax plan introduced in the legislature by Clifton R. Kellem, was laid aside pending a report to be made on it by E. A. Ellsworth, appointed to look into the merit of the bill.

The second letter, from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce asked support of the Niles civic group in a campaign to have legislation passed to prohibit inspection of income tax returns, a practice now permissable. The San Francisco body held that evil sales practices and jealousy, the latter leading to class hatred and unrest, result from public knowledge of individual returns.

Speaker for the day was Dr. R. H. Bennett, who held the interest of the members with a vivid story of fishing in the northwest. Bennett touched on the methods of fish packing used in the large canneries.

Coroner's Jury Says Driver Not Cautious

Although it made no recommendations for action, a coroner's jury, at an inquest on the death of Edward Moreira, arrived at a verdict Monday censuring W. F. Heine, of Berkeley, driver of the death car, for not exercising due caution.

Moreira, well-known Centerville boy, was instantly killed the night of February 9, when he was struck while riding his bicycle on Main street, Centerville. Heine declared he failed to see the boy.

CAFETERIA FUND BOOSTED BY FOOD SALE

Additional funds for the Niles Grammar school cafeteria were taken in last Saturday at a highly successful food sale, conducted by the Niles Parent-Teachers Association.

Members said this week that shortage of cakes, in spite of the large number prepared for the sale, shortened the time during which the goodies were sold. Pies and hot baked foods were also on the list.

Mrs. C M. Myrick conducted the sale, with Mrs. R. Bendel and Mrs. Georgia Burr as committeemen. The latter was chairman.

Acquitted Last Week At Niles Justice Court

Elliott Cowden, of Niles, was acquitted last Tuesday on charges of surreptitiously leaving his rooming house without paying his bill, when he was tried before Judge J. A. Silva at the Niles justice court. The charge had been brought by Martin Cavanaugh.

Investigation proved that Cowden did not commit a misdemeanor, in that he had not removed his baggage from the room.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

By NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

WITH THEIR OWN CHILDREN ON THE COUNTY PAYROLLS, BOARD CAN INSTITUTE NO REFORM OF MAN-WIFE EVIL

The board of supervisors of Alameda county on January 23, opened a discussion on the reprehensible practice of two or more in one family holding public offices at the same time. Members of the board—some of them, at least—expressed opposition to the evil, and a suggestion was made to amend Emergency Ordinance No. 255, passed December 13, 1932, which prohibited any person from entering public service who had at that time a husband or wife drawing $125 or more from Alameda county. That ordinance did not effect those families who previous to the adoption were receiving duplicate, sometimes triplicate, salaries.

The suggested amendment would, if passed, automatically remove from the county payroll a man's wife or a woman's husband, where duplications were the practice.

It is amazing that this regulation has not been in effect all these years of the depression. But it is hard for politicians to legislate their relatives and friends out of soft jobs with fat salaries.

It is the opinion of the Township Register that this proposed ordinance will be buried—in fact we think it is already smothered under the blanket of that hated thing, Nepotism, that has palsied the hands of our public servants so they can not raise a clinched fist against injustice and almost criminal incompetence.

What else might one expect with members of the board loading up the payrolls with their children—children who we very well know, never held a real job in private employment, nor demostrated that they had the ability to even make a slight gesture at earning the money Alameda county taxpayers have raised by the most exacting privations, and often by the loss of their homes, ranches and businesses, that county government might go on "just like there weren't any hard times."

Even if these relatives were competent, it would be no justification in keeping them on the public payroll when there are thousands of capable married men without work and on direct charity.

Regardless of the right or wrong of the thing, it is hardly to be expected that a supervisor, whose family is a beneficiary of the double-salary outrage, to vote for an ordinance removing either a husband or wife from the payrolls, when both are firmly entrenched at the public trough. It is true the proposed ordinance does not say a word about a public official's son or daughter receiving an appointment to a fat county job; yet even a "spoils" politician must be a little consistent, and a man who has both hands and both feet in the county treasury can hardly be supposed to view with alarm a friend in the same position of inordinate greed.

No, the ordinance will never pass—at least there will be two votes against it, and maybe three, and that will kill it as dead as the word ECONOMY in the lexicon of officialdom.

The writer wants the reader of this editorial to sit down and do a little thinking. Before you start pondering the double-job steal—for indeed in these times a softer word is inexpressive—try and envision you, the voter, a master, and your officials as servants. Pretty hard to imagine that, we'll admit. Anyway, you're the boss, but your hired help have so long trod on you that naturally you believe you are the slave and they the master. You know a few public officials—all of you know at least one. Tell that one what you think of a husband and wife, and a father and a son drawing a public salary when you, the taxpayer, often must go without the bare necessities of life that the mounting costs of relief rolls may be met in county, state and nation—upon those rolls, names, many of whom are far more capable of intelligent service than the pampered pets of the county ring.

Tell them that putting their sons and daughters on jobs of fifty dollars a week and up is immoral, unChristian-like, and that you not only want it to cease but you demand that these chiselers step down and make a place for some worthy

Stephanie Goes South

By MARIAN P. JOHNSON

©. McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

"GO SOUTH, Young Lady!" commanded the gay-colored placard in the window of Clayton's department store.

"On what?" snapped Stephanie Chadwick.

The window was the deck of a ship; the models, bronzed men and daintily tanned girls, made a charming group; Stephanie, herself, was one of them—the lady in white, perhaps!

"Go South, Young Lady," blazed the poster persistently.

"Of course," conceded Stephanie, a little uncertainly, "I could pretend!"

And so she slipped from the monotonous gray mist of the February afternoon into the humming treasure-house that was Clayton's department store.

"I'm going South," she caroled to the saleswoman. "Let me see something appropriate, please!"

She began trying them on—the yellow sun dress with the bands of orange, and no back at all. And the great sun hat to match. The blue and pink cotton mesh. An organdie of delicate rose that billowed about her dark loveliness like a soft cloud.

With the evening things Stephanie came to earth again. She glanced desperately at her wrist watch, exclaimed, "Heavens! I'm late!" and began getting into her own things with feverish haste.

Stephanie passed, unnoticing, into the February slush. The South had lain the warm fingers of its golden sunshine upon her.

And so she clung to the mad game she had begun. She went to the steamship office, and stood, her hands filled with multi-colored folders, her heart racing.

"Steve Chadwick!" cried a familiar voice.

"Helen Blaine!" echoed Stephanie.

"This disgustingly good-looking creature is my cousin, John Roger Thorne," chattered Helen. "Stephanie Chadwick, John. I've hardly seen her since we were in school!"

Mr. Thorne's gray eyes looked from Stephanie's face to the hands with the folders.

"So you're going to Bermuda."

"Bermuda," repeated Stephanie, with the lilt of a sea breeze in her soft young voice.

"That's where I'm going!" exclaimed John Roger Thorne.

Stephanie's heart swept into a series of quick little bumps.

"I'll tell you," suggested Mr. Thorne, "let's all have dinner somewhere, and then dance . . ."

"Oh, I couldn't," said Stephanie, quickly. "I—I'm not dressed for it."

"Nonsense!" exclaimed Helen. "We'll go to the theater, then. I'll call Tad King!"

Helen and Tad went off somewhere after dinner so Stephanie and John Roger explored alone—and talked. About Bermuda. John Roger described it to her.

It wouldn't do any harm just to listen, Stephanie told herself. She wouldn't have to see him again. She'd pretend it was all true just for tonight.

But John Roger Thorne seemed filled with a strong determination to see more of Stephanie. He wanted to call; to take her places; to get to be real friends before they started to Bermuda!

Standing one day before Clayton's window Stephanie looked at the young man model, and suddenly a cold chill of realization caught at her heart. Tonight was their last evening together—hers and John Rogers. "He's going to Bermuda," she thought wretchedly, "but I'm staying at home!" And then the young man model began to blur and Stephanie had to wink very fast before she could see him clearly again.

"I'll make some sort of excuse," she decided. "I'll have to!"

* * *

"Tomorrow," murmured John Roger, softly. "Tomorrow, Steve!"

There was a lump in Stephanie's throat.

"I'm not going to Bermuda," she said. And suddenly he began to blur, like the young man model in Clayton's window.

"Why, Steve?" demanded John Roger.

Winking very fast, Stephanie told him. Not the excuses she had planned. Only the truth!

"It was a game," she confessed. "I was pretending—because I wanted so much to go! I never dreamed I'd see you again," she added hurriedly. "How ever could I know you'd be going there? And would keep coming to see me? And asking me questions? Well," she concluded, with a perfectly good laugh that was only a little shaky, "Good-by, John Roger. See Bermuda for me!"

"Now, listen here, young lady," said John Roger Thorne, holding her close, "don't think you're going to get away from me at this late date! You are going to Bermuda! Do you understand?"

Stephanie understood. They weren't in the cab at all. They were on the silver beach. She was wearing the rose-colored organdie cloud. She was in John Roger's arms and there was soft, stringed music playing. She could even catch the fragrance of orange blossoms—warm, and pungent and sweet!

POULTRY OUTLOOK AND GOOD RATIONS

Increase in Price of Eggs Adds to Interest.

By H. H. Alp, Poultry Extension Specialist, University of Illinois. WNU Service.

With the seasonal increase in egg prices and the encouraging outlook for the egg market, renewed interest is being taken in laying rations by poultrymen whose flocks normally produce some 2,000,000,000 eggs annually.

There are, of course, several good laying rations, but one that has given good result at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture consists of both mash and grain mixtures. The mash is usually made up in 500-pound lots by mixing together 155 pounds of ground yellow corn, 100 pounds of wheat middlings, 55 pounds of meat scrap, 100 pounds wheat bran, 20 pounds of dried milk, 25 pounds of soybean oil meal, 40 pounds of alfalfa leaf meal and 5 pounds of salt. For winter feeding, one pint of cod liver oil is added to each 100 pounds of mash. This is kept before the birds in feed hoppers at all times.

The grain mixture, when made up in 100 pound batches, consists of 40 pounds of corn, 30 pounds of wheat and 30 pounds of oats. This is hand fed, the chickens being given 12 to 14 pounds for each 100 birds twice daily. Oyster shell, grit and any succulent green feed that may be available are given the birds free choice.

When feed prices are going up along with egg prices, there is a temptation for poultrymen to cheapen their feeding mixtures at the expense of some necessary worthwhile ingredient. This is usually a false saving, for a low-priced ration is not necessarily the most economical. It is doubtful if it would be good judgment on the part of anyone to sacrifice a proved ration simply because it has advanced in price, unless a satisfactory substitute can be found costing less money.

Kinds of Lighting for Use in Poultry Houses

While electric lights are ideal for use in the poultry house, other forms of lighting such as kerosene, gasoline, gas, or acetylene may be used with satisfaction. It is not necessary to use a strong light to obtain satisfactory results, says E. M. Funk, of the Missouri College of Agriculture. Many poultrymen have used 10 or 15 watt electric lights with very good results. Both mash and grain should be kept in open hoppers so the birds can easily find the feed. Fresh water should also be available.

The lights should be located about 6 feet above the floor and arranged so that the feed and water containers are well lighted. Two lights approximately 15 feet apart and 10 feet from the front of a 30 by 30 poultry house will provide sufficient illumination. Two lights 10 feet apart should be used in 20 by 20 poultry houses. The lights should be arranged so that the roosts will be illuminated, otherwise the birds may fail to locate them.

Milk in Laying Mash

Both skim milk and buttermilk may be used in place of the dried milk products as well as the fish meal and meat meal, according to the North Carolina State college. Three quarts of skim milk or buttermilk should be used where only the dried milk products are substituted. Where the dried milk, fish meal, and meat meal are left out of the ration, four and one-half gallons of skim milk or buttermilk should be substituted. The success of this substitution depends upon the regularity of feeding the milk and, unless there is ample supply for constant feeding, no substitution should be made.

Thirty Years

By JEWELL H. MOGFORD

©. McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service.

PLACING his watch on his desk in front of him, Kenneth Rowell picked up the gun.

His handsome young face was set and colorless, his fine body tense. He looked at the watch. In the soft light of the shaded gas jet the minute hand marked five minutes to eleven.

Five minutes to wait. He relaxed slightly. He must pull the trigger at exactly eleven. That had been Kathleen's last caution an hour ago as they stood on the little balcony of the country club.

He rested the hand with the gun on the table. Four minutes yet.

He had held her close—the first time he had ever taken her in his arms, for, young as she was, she was another man's wife.

"I shall not see him again," Kathleen had said, after a moment. "I'll leave a note on his desk." He did not like to think of Chauncy Grimes. Yet, they were taking the only way out, he and Kathleen.

He held the gun against his heart again. Three minutes now.

"We must both be sure of the time," she had cautioned again, "and very careful." He had known in the stillness that followed that she was trying to banish the fear of a possible slip in their plans. "For I could never bear being without you, darling, no matter where."

He forced his mind to register the time. One more minute. Involuntarily he turned the gun and looked into the muzzle. The cold ugliness of it startled him. Kathleen, at this moment, too, must be frightened. But in a few seconds now a bullet—vainly he tried to force back this thought—a bullet would go tearing through her soft flesh—and his own. His hand, his whole body shook, went prickly with a damp fever, then was drained of any feeling at all.

The minute hand again. It plainly marked eleven-three!

Frantically he reached the wall telephone and turned the crank. Then, at last, the Grimes' butler, excitedly:

"Mrs. Grimes? She's gone! Came back from the club, must have gone out again by the side door . . . husband frantic, just found a note on his desk . . . suicide, yes, at exactly eleven, the note said, but didn't say where . . . gun gone, too . . ." The scattered words, each a definite flame, burnt into his brain.

Too late.! She had gone alone!

* * *

On the boat bound for the Orient Kenneth Rowell knew little peace. The waves swishing against the sides of the vessel shrieked Kathleen's last words to him. "I couldn't bear being without you, darling, no matter where." The throb of the engine groaned them, the wind hissed them. He had failed her, had let her go alone into that vast unknown.

It was the same everywhere he went. Running from his conscience, he traveled for five miserable years, from country to country, but never back to America. Finally, in Honduras, his money gone, he worked on a coffee plantation, a common laborer. Always that insistent cry; never away from it.

Thirty years passed.

He returned, a stowaway, to America. Stooped, a ragged man, old beyond his years, he moved like a forlorn spirit across the soft sward in front of the country club—the old building, enlarged. He stood beside a shrub under the same little balcony, the same moon, the same soft breeze. The orchestra was playing a sweet, gliding waltz. They had danced to that same tune thirty years ago, he and Kathleen.

He took a step into deeper shadow as a woman, followed by a boy, came out. He saw her distinctly as she stepped through the lighted french doors, the large puffs of her silken sleeves, her blond curls. Holding tight to his senses, he told himself that this was no ghostly apparition. He reminded himself that American papers had said much of late about woman's return to the fashions of the 90s.

She was heavier, with curves more ample, older, of course. Then he saw that she was smoking a cigarette.

"But Kay," the boy was saying, "I'll die if you don't leave old Grimesy and marry me! I'll—I'll kill myself!"

"Don't try it, sweetums," she answered in a heavy contralto voice, but with something of the old sweetness. "I tried it once. Thought I couldn't live without a certain man. Left the usual note on Grimesy's desk, had the gun ready and everything. But, well—I caught a last minute boat to Calais instead."

"But Grimesy, how did he know?" the boy asked breathlessly.

"Oh, I sent a messenger with another note from the boat." She lighted one cigarette with the stub of another. Then, inhaling a long draft, she said languidly:

"No, I need you too much. I really couldn't bear being without you, darling!"

Prices for wives used to be high because there was a shortage of suitable women. But many women have gone to south Jugoslavia. Numbers of them are actually prepared to bring a dowry to their husbands instead of having to be "bought" from their families.

Also, farm product prices have fallen and made it impossible for most men to support more than one wife.

Odd Facts About Snails

About the oddest fact in connection with the snail is the condition which exists among the land species on the Sandwich islands. Land snails are always more localized as to species because they are not carried great distances by water currents as are the water snails, but on these islands the localization has become extreme. One valley will contain snails entirely foreign to an adjacent valley, and among the tree snails one species has been known to be confined to a single tree.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Statues Wear Clothing

The statues in the cathedral in Malaga, Spain, wear real clothing and jewelry. Here stands the mascot of Spain's Catholic kings, "Our Lady of the Victories," an old carved wooden image of the Virgin. The carving is very human in appearance and it is exaggerated by being robed in actual clothing. It is the custom in Malaga to put clothing on all religious statues.

Contour Plowing Will Cut Erosion

Parallels Terraces in Long, Winding Furrows; Corn Must Be Drilled.

By Ralph C. Hay, Agricultural Engineering Department, University of Illinois. WNU Service.

Pride in straight rows will cost farmers inestimable losses this winter in the form of soil erosion on sloping fields that have been plowed up and down the slope. Contour plowing and cultivating will stop most of this loss.

Plowing and cultivating up and down the slope makes for straight rows of corn and other crops, but it also speeds up the flow of run-off water and may start serious gullying.

Coupled with contour plowing and cultivation in a good soil erosion plan there must be terracing, the application of limestone and the growing of legumes.

Contour cultivation is so called because it parallels the terraces in long, winding furrows. The corn must be drilled instead of planted in check rows, but this is quite advantageous because more soil and soil moisture are conserved as a result of the run-off water being retarded by each corn row. Farmers who practice contour cultivation report that it increases crop yields, and but little more time is required than by farming in straight rows. Working the curved rows which are longer than the field compensates for the cultivation of the few pointed rows between the terraces.

Drilling corn has proved satisfactory where tried in Illinois, particularly if a rotary hoe is used for the first cultivation, and less time and trouble are required than for check-rowed corn. Furthermore, farm work done on rows running practically level requires less power to pull the machinery than where the implements must be drawn up and down the slopes.

Farming in straight rows over terraces, especially on steep slopes, is also objectionable. There may be trouble in getting the machinery over the ridges, and furthermore, the ridges may be torn down so that considerable work has to be done to keep the terraces from breaking over during heavy rains.

Grape Vines Prosper in Various Kinds of Soil

Grape vines are usually planted six to eight feet apart. The grape thrives well in a variety of soils provided there is good drainage, the heavier loams giving best results as a rule, says the Montreal Herald. One or two year old plants are used in planting and are usually trained to a two wired fence, one wire 18 inches from the ground and the other four feet. The young plants are cut back to two or three buds at planting time and as these develop the strongest one is retained and the others removed. The growth from this bud is allowed to grow its full length. At pruning time the second year this growth is also cut back as before on the previous year's growth and again the strongest growth is retained and allowed to develop as in the first year. At pruning time the third season this cane is cut back at the top of the fence. As growth commences select the strongest near the wires, removing the others, thus the ones retained will form the future frame-wood of the vine.

Use Manure for Orchards

Where stable manure is available, it should be used for the orchard as much as possible this winter says A. E. Murneck of the Missouri College of Agriculture. Manure will not only add nitrogen but will also improve the water-holding capacity of the soil. A fair application for apple trees of average size is 200 to 250 pounds to a tree, depending on the fertility of the soil and vigor of the trees. The use of a fair amount of commercial nitrogenous fertilizer, followed by a moderate dressing with manure and a certain amount of pruning of the trees, may be considered a desirable combination of practices to put vigor into many of our devitalized orchards.

First Bank of the U. S.

The first Bank of the United States was incorporated by the first congress in 1791 as a part of the Alexander Hamilton plan to strengthen the new federal government. Thomas Jefferson and Edmond Randolph challenged the constitutionality of the measure and fought the granting of a charter because of its "centralizing influences."

South Sea Named by Balboa

When Balboa discovered the Pacific ocean he called it the South sea. The name still sticks to the southern part of it, sea being made plural. Magellan called it the Pacific ocean because he found it so peaceful after his passage through the straits which now bear his name. The straits, by the way, are 300 miles long.

Congregational Church News

"And Christ Walked the Lowly Paths," will be the subject of the pastor's sermon at the 11 o'clock service. The feature of the morning will be special music by our new quartet.

Sunday school will be held between the hours of 10 and 11.

Christian Endeavor will convene at the parsonage between the hours of 6:30 and 7:30.

Choir practice will be held at the parsonage as usual on Monday evening between 7 and 7:30 o'clock.

The early hour for Christian Endeavor is necessary due to the fact that we are holding a special evening service, at which time the pastor wil pesent a set of beautifully painted slides on Africa. All Sunday school children and their parents are especially invited. There will be special singing and the pastor will read a short group of religious poems. A silver offering will be received for the benefit of missions. The time is 7:30, and the place, the auditorium of the church.

Bible Theater of the Air, over KQW, San Jose, is 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The play given at that hour will be based on the Bible story, "Zacchaeus."

HAZEL CIRCLE IS HOST TO FIFTY FIVE FRIDAY

Old fashioned dress was the order of the evening last Friday night when the Hazel Circle, Neighbors of Woodcraft, held their regular meeting in the I. O. O. F. hall, Niles. The historic garb was worn in honor of George Washington, on whose birthday anniversary, the meeting fell.

About fifty-five people attended the meeting, members said, at which Hayward and San Leandro circles were entertained as part of the "Good Fellows" campaign.

J. E. Smith, of Niles, was initiated into the group at ceremonies held during the evening.

The local circle is planning for another initiation, to be held at the first meeting in March.

Couple Married At Reno Last Saturday

Friends of Miss Edith Oliveria, of Niles, and J. Perry, of Irvington, were pleasantly surprised Saturday to hear of the couple's marriage at Reno, Nevada. The newlyweds phoned their families of their plans while on the way to the Nevada city.

Perry runs a bakery route in this district, where the couple will continue to live.

Eighteen Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Klinkle, recently of Oakland, have rented the Nevis cottage, and are now residents of Niles.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hatch, of Niles Glen, spent Christmas with their son, W. S. Hatch, of San Francisco.

The members of the Rebekah lodge recently sent two boxes filled with gifts to the soldier boys in France.

Mrs. J. B. Bernard has received word from Honolulu, telling of the safe arrival there of her daughter, Mrs. Niles Jacobus. Mr. and Mrs. Jacobus expect to remain in the islands for about six months.

At a mass meeting Tuesday evening in the interest of the Knights of Columbus War Fund, the sum of 110 was subscribed. Attorney Thomas Power, of Irvington, was chairman of the meeting. Addresses were bade by Fathers Kennedy and Costa, of Mission San Jose, and Judge John G. Mattos, of Centerville.

Firemen Get Latest Type Fire Helmets

Embers may fall and water spurt at future fires in Niles, but the local firemen will be serene under their new helmets, added to the equipment recently.

Lacking the high forepeak and number plate of the traditional helmet, the new headgear lends the smokeaters a strange look. Clarence Crane, department member, stated that the hats are the last cry in new paraphernalia.

Lew Galbraith, of Piedmont, visited briefly with friends in Niles recently, while on his way to his ranch near Morgan Hill.

They are unbreakable, shockproof and waterproof.

Crane stated that seven members of the local department attended the firemen's association meet at Castro Valley last Thursday night. Those who went were: Elmer Miller, William Mendonca, Clarence Crane, Joe Perry, Ed. Oliveira, Frank Silva and John Alves.

FIRST NIGHT OF HUGE "VODVIL" AT W.U.H.S.

Students at the Washington Union high school, and the residents of the township at large, have looked forward to tonight, when the great "Vodvil" show will be staged for the first of its two-night run on the stage of the local school.

More than 100 students will take part in the mammoth production, which is being directed by Principal A. J. Rathbone, Miss E. Marie Sandholdt and Miss Sybil Botelho.

Although the seats are reserved, the audience is urged to be early, according to Clifford Rogers, advertising manager for the show. Bette Robinson is general student manager.

TOUGH SCHEDULE ARRANGED FOR HUSKER NINE

Coach Jess Regli's Washington high school baseball team, always of championship mettle, will face a tough schedule this season, with games slated with some rough and ready college nines. Among the dangerous opponents will be the following: University of California freshmen, San Jose State varsity, St. Mary's freshmen, Alameda high school, winners of the A. C. A. L. last year; McClymonds high, winner of the O. A. L.; and St. Ignatius, winner of the San Francisco city league.

The complete schedule:

March 7—Alumni, here.
March 8—San Jose State, here.
March 15—Pleasanton, there.
March 18—Alameda, there.
March 19—Cal. Frosh, there.
March 22—Albany, here.
March 25—McClymonds, there.
March 26—Livermore, there.
April 2—St. Ignatius, here.
April 5—Emeryville, here
April 9—Livermore, here.
April 12—Pleasanton, here
April 22—St. Mary's Frosh, there.
April 23—San Jose State, here.
April 26—Albany, there.
May 9—Berkeley, there.
May 17—Emeryville, there.

On the track schedule, the following meets are listed:

March 28—Pittsburg at Centerville.
April 4—Livermore at Centerville.
May 4—S. A. C. A. L. Meet at Foothills, in Berkeley.

SCHOOL PRINCIPALS HEAR MARTIN ON LEGISLATION

Forty-one members of the Southern Alameda County Principals' Association held their regular meeting Monday night at the El Lido cafe, in Centerville.

The school heads, gathered from Hayward, Washington township, Pleasanton and Livermore, heard a talk on proposed school legislation and matters of ordering school supplies, delivered by County Superintendent of Schools David E. Martin.

The address was followed by an entertainment, a feature of which was a reading by Wallace Murray, of the San Jose schools. The Misses Marian Long and Blanche Henningsen rendered a violin duet, accompanied at the piano by Miss Levada Hill. All three of the entertainers are members of the Decoto Grammar school faculty.

The next meeting of the organization will be held in Hayward.

F. F. Botelho has added a sixteen cylinder car to his fleet, to be used for funeral purposes.

SNOW SHOWS FILM OF AFRICAN HUNT TO LIONS TUESDAY

Annual "Ladies" Night Is Enjoyed by More Than Eighty People

Members of the Centerville Lions Club, their wives, and members of the Junior traffic Patrol, were taken to Africa Tuesday night, when Sid Snow big game hunter, showed motion pictures of his famous hunts on that continent. He accompanied the pictures with explanatory remarks.

Previous to Snow's talk, Oliver Campos, music instructor, presented Albert Silva, his diminuitive accordian pupil, in a series of solos.

All business was suspended for the evening, as is the custom once each year on "Ladies Night".

The next meeting of the service group will be held at the Black 'N White restaurant.

HUSKERS DROP TITLE CONTEST TO LIVERMORE

League Play Ends With Centerville Quintet In Second Place

A fourth quarter surge, that left the Centerville varsity in its tracks last Thursday night, lifted the Livermore basketball team to the league title, in a game that kept the packed gymnasium at Livermore in a state of pandemonium during both halves. The score was 38 to 28.

Three quarters of see-saw scoring, with not more than three points separating the two fives, ended with Livermore gaining momentum and the Huskers visibly on the wane.

Cragholm, Livermore's star center, after scoring one point in the first half, came back in the last two quarters to sink fifteen points. Dale Laybourne, Husker center sensation, was high point man with seventeen markers. He left the game on personal fouls in the last half. His presence was sorely missed. Rathbone rang up eight points.

The Huskers redeemed a little of their spirits Tuesday night of this week, when they went to Pleasanton and defeated that institution by a score of 30 to 20. Laybourne, in form as usual, sank twenty-three points. Rose, Rathbone, Juarez, Kato and Dundas did good work for Coach Regli's five.

The B team, reflecting the work of their big brothers, went down to a 34 to 15 defeat at Livermore, then came back Tuesday night to cop their game against Pleasanton by a tally of 36 to 14.

The league standing at the close of the season, sees Livermore champion, with Centervilel second in the varsity division. Emeryville, Foothills, Pleasanton and Albany finished next in that order. In the B league, Livermore and Emeryville are tied for first, with Foothills third and Centerville fourth. Albany and Pleasanton are in the cellar.

Plant Manager Weds Recently In Nevada

O. Swan, well-known in Alamed county agricultural circles, was wed to Miss Queen Nye, at Reno, recently, according to word received in Niles last week.

Mrs. Swan, who came to California recently from her home in Missouri, was a long-time acquaintance of Swan's. The couple are residing in their newly furnished home at the corner of Second and F street, Niles.

Swan, manager of the H. P. Garin packing plant, at Centerville, is known as an authority on agricultural matters, and popular among growers in this district.

LABOR CONDITIONS; PAY, DISCUSSED AT MEETING

Agreement was reached on tentative plans for a uniform system of pay and working conditions for transient labor during the coming harvest season last Wednesday afternoon, when about thirty-five shippers and growers met at the Centerville justice court to hear District Attorney Earl C. Warren explain the labor situation.

Possible causes for labor dissatisfaction were discussed, and standards decreed for uniform size and hampers, uniform pay, and for labor camp conditions.

Named to report on the above conditions prior to the start of the pea harvest, the following were appointed on a growers' committee: W. W. Curtner, R. C. Kennedy and Alvino Vargas, of Warm Springs; Carlo Rose, of Milpitas, and Jack Smith, of San Lorenzo.

District Attorney Warren, in his discussion, pointed out the undersirability of "vigilante" groups, and urged that the growers cooperate with the county officials for law enforcement in the event of labor troubles.

A number of other speakers, including Carl Williams, of the Williams Brothers packing plant at Centerville, and Deputy Sheriff Hugo Radbruch, gave their views on the labor question.

MATHIESEN NAMED COMMISSIONER RECENTLY

M. P. Mathiesen has been appointed to the board of fire commissioners of the Centerville fire district to fill the vacancy made by the recent death of A. R. Gronley.

Mathiesen has been a member of the fire department for many years and his appointment by the board has been met with the unanimous approval of the entire community.

Gronley, who passed away recently after a long illness, was an authority on construction.

JOSEPH J. AMARAL ANSWERS CALL SATURDAY

Joseph Silva Amaral, 59, ill for several weeks at his Centerville home, was taken by death Saturday morning. He was a native of Newark, and had passed his entire life in Washington township.

Amaral was well-known over the district, having been a barber at one time at Machado's Corners, and later a bicycle and tire dealer in Centerville. His wife, the late Mrs. Mamie Amaral, preceded him in death by about fifteen years. Amaral was a member of the Centerville council, U. P. E. C.

He is survived by three brothers, Frank, Antone and Louis, all of the Alviso district.

Funeral services were held from Botelho's Chapel of Palms at 10:30 Monday morning with services following at the Holy Ghost church. Interment was in the Holy Sepulchre cemetery, near Hayward.

The "liquid test"

...it ENDS bowel worries for many people

This is a test that tells you whether the system needs a cathartic change. If you have constant sluggish spells or bilious attacks, and laxatives seem to make things worse, it would be wise to try this:

Stop all use of any laxative that does not encourage variation from a "fixed dose" (which may be entirely too large a dose for your individual need). Use instead, a liquid laxative that you can measure and regulate as to dose. As necessary to repeat, take smaller doses, less and less often, until the bowels are moving without any help at all.

Doctors use liquid laxatives, and a properly prepared liquid laxative, containing natural laxative agents like senna and cascara is a joy and a comfort; a real help in establishing regularity. Ask your doctor about this! (Doctors use liquid laxatives.) You can get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a most dependable liquid laxative, at any drug store.

TRIAL TOMORROW IN OVERACKER VS. WITHERLY CASE

Final decision in the Overacker-Witherly dog shooting case, pending in the Niles justice court for several weeks, is expected tomorrow afternoon, when plaintiff and defendant appear before Judge J. A. Silva.

Overacker, represented by Ezra Decoto, former district attorney, is accused by F. H. Witherly of wantonly shooting the latter's prize police dog recently when the animal ran on to property adjoining the defendant's.

Overacker is said to contend that dogs had been runing his stock and turkeys.

Deputy District Attorney Stanley Smallwood is handling the case for Witherly.

"LIVES OF A BENGAL LANCER" STARTS MARCH 7

Will Rogers, America's leading humorist, has scored another screen triumph in his latest picture, "The County Chairman" beginning a three-day run at the Hayward Theater tonight. Louise Dresser, Evelyn Venable and Stephin Fetchit are in the cast.

Miriam Hopkins and Joel McCrea are the principals in "The Richest Girl in the World," coming for Sunday and Monday. On the same program will be "The Captain Hates the Sea," with Victor McLaglen.

"Charlie Chan in Paris," with Warner Oland, and "Ender Madame," starring Elissa Landi and Cary Grant, are the features for Tuesday and Wednesday.

One of the most stirring pictures of the year, "The Lives of a Bengel Lancer," begins a three-day run Thursday, March 7. Gary Cooper and Franchot Tone are the principal players.

Frankie Darro in "Little Men" is on the same bill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Townsend, son, Jack, and daughter, Mabel, visited in Niles Sunday. They are making their home in Campbell.

IRVINGTON CHURCH SOCIETIES HEAR DR. C. SMITH

The combined societies of the Irvington Community Presbyterian church closed their fiscal year on Friday evening, February 15, at the regular meeting held in the church halls.

Main speaker of the evening was Dr. Clyde Smith, executive secretary of Presbytery. His reminiscences of early boyhood in Irvington and nearby comunities brought back early scenes for many members of the audience.

Preceding Dr. Smith's address, there was an interesting program consisting of group singing, a piano solo by Mrs. Stimson and a monologue by Mrs. Edith Noe.

The annual report of their departments were read by Mrs. Karl Christensen, of the church; Dr. J. H. Durham and Miss Milderd Durham, of the Sunday school; Mrs. L. Foster, of the Womens' Organization, and Miss Lamb, of the Home Missions group.

Following the official reports, the officers of the Woman's Organization were installed. They include: Mrs. Edith Noe, president; Mrs. Charles Lutz, vice president; Mrs. Muriel Smith, secretary, and Mrs. Florence Beardsley, treasurer.

The evening ended with a social gathering and refreshments.

GROWLING WAS MORE THAN MEN COULD "BEAR"

If someone had asked "What the boys in the back room would have," at the Niles Tavern Tuesday afternoon, the answer might have been "the jitters," following the advent of a real, live bear.

Bruin, who caused terrific excitement among Niles children came to town on a leash, led by a swarthy gentleman, who declared that the great beast would dance for a nominal fee. Unable to get an appreciative audience on the street, Bruin and his master made their way to the Niles Tavern, where they interrupted the boys at cards and collected enough pennies for a dance.

After a few well executed steps to the rythm of a small tambourine the bear became bored and took a lusty swing at the musician his master, at the same time sounding like a train in a tunnel. It was too much for the spectators. They deserted the premises, not to return until Bruin, swarthy gentleman and tambourine had quit the town.

SONS BORN

Word was received in Alvarado Saturday of the birth of a son to Mr. and Mrs. T. Brown, of Broadmoor. Mrs. Brown is the former Eloise Hellwig.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey, of Alvarado, were pleased to hear of the birth of a son to the couple on Thursday, February 21. Mrs. Harvey was Miss Ruby Joyce before her marriage.

COUPLE TO PLIGHT TROTH SATURDAY AT SAN RAFAEL

Among prominent weddings in the bay region this week will be the marriage of Miss Alyse Dwyer, of San Anselmo, and Edward Wargin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Braun, of Niles, to take place at San Rafael, Saturday morning.

The bride-elect is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dwyer, of San Anselmo. Mr. Wargin, a graduate of San Jose State College and an alumnus of the Niles Grammar and Washington Union High schools, is widely acquainted here.

The ceremony will be solemnized at the Episcopal church in San Rafael at 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning, with the Rev. John Jefferson Conoles officiating. Best man will be Milton Munger, of Niles, classmate of the groom. Miss Claire Dwyer will be maid of honor, with Miss Lilian Orchard, of San Anselmo, and Miss Katherine Kergan, of San Francisco, as bridesmaids. Little Florence Marie Braun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Braun, will be flower girl.

Ushers will be Dan O. Cozzi, of San Francisco, and William Estudillo, of Niles.

The couple will make their home in the east bay district. Wargin is employed at Crocket with the California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Company.

CHEVROLET TOPS ENTIRE SALES LIST FOR 1934

Chevrolet led the entire industry in 1934, according to a final and complete registration made public by the Chevrolet Motor Company recently.

Ed. Rose, local dealer, stated that Chevrolet led in total combined passenger car and truck registration for the past year, with 692,413, as against 658,778 for its nearest competitor.

In the passenger car field alone Chevrolet surpassed its nearest rival by 4,379 units.

In referring to the local sales for the 1935 Chevrolets, Rose declared that he is unable to get cars fast enough to supply the demand.

CARD OF THANKS

Niles Plant Engaged In Manufacture Of Pottery

Pioneering in manufacture of pottery on a commercial scale on the west coast, the Kraftile Company, at Niles, is at present engaged in expanding its plant and organization to handle the new development. Heretofore production of this nature had been confined to eastern states, mainly Ohio, officials said.

The start of the new line, during the low season for building tile, has kept the local plant on an increasing scale of activity, with some twenty-five workers and craftsmen engaged. Expansion of existing departments has been necessary, with employment of expert modelers.

Foremost among the new articles are pottery lamps, which are completely assembled and made ready for the trade here. A shade and finishing department, under the direction of G. H. Langland, is in steady operation. The shades are designed, manufactured and finished here. Langland stated that the number of workmen and artists under his direction will be increased, possibly after July, when the annual rise in sales is expected. In marketing the lamps, the company has devised the "lamp-a-month" plan, whereby dealers will be kept supplied with the latest models. Langland said that new designs will be worked out from time to time.

Among other articles being manufactured are small crocks, in which the housewife will soon find varieties of Kraft cheese marketed.

Good Eyes need Good Light
Impaired Sight demands it

GOOD EYES are a very precious possession. Of all the senses—seeing is the very last thing anyone would wish to damage.

Once damaged, eyes can never be repaired or replaced. We can only help them by wearing glasses prescribed by an eye specialist. But even then, the best of glasses cannot completely restore the full healthy vision of eyes damaged by abuse.

Most good eyesight becomes poor eyesight because good eyes are abused by straining to see in bad light.

It is so easy today to have good lighting. Electricity is plentiful and low in cost. And modern lamps are scientifically designed to give proper diffusion of light without harmful glare.

Below is pictured a lamp of scientifically correct design. Note its modern features. Compare it with the lamps you are using in your home. You should have at least one of these lamps in your living room and on the children's study table.

Editorial Comment

NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

man with a large family to support.

These are perilous times—times that are trying the nerves, and the faith of men. We are standing on the brink of revolution. With some people wallowing in good money (generally taxpayers' money) while others are having every shred of self-respect torn out of their hearts—their bodies emaciated by lack of nutritious food, their frames racked with the cough of incipient tuberculosis acquired through exposure—it is time for drastic action.

Public officials, who, by their damnable conduct, give radicals fuel for treason—these must be told in no uncertain terms to correct the abuses under which they profit by defiling the democratic fibre of our public life. They are the indirect cause for rioting and red propaganda: they give the excuse—indeed, many might argue a valid reason—for defiance of the constitutional authority.

If these men have no natural charity—no shame—then understanding should be driven into their silicated heads, and fear into their inspissated hearts.

OH, FOR THE OLD-FASHIONED WIFE!

The wife of any prominent man—to say nothing of the wife of the president of the United States—can best serve her husband by being seen and not heard. We are lead to express this opinion by the very unfortunate habit Mrs. Franklin Delano Roosevelt has of injecting her views into political, economic and highly controversal questions. One can hardly dissociate her pronouncements from those of the White House, and her ideas broadcast throughout the United States seem to the public to have been inspired by her illustrious husband. This is probably not true, but the average man in the street accepts her interviews as coming from the administration.

Many very good and patriotic Americans think Mrs. Roosevelt might better confine herself to strictly social duties at home, and busy herself with the well-being of her sons and daughters and grandchildren, rather than elect to speak for the President of the United States, who none will deny is quite capable of being the head of his household as well as the titular leader for the Democratic party and President of the greatest nation on earth.

Expressing concern over the Hauptmann verdict will win no friends for the Roosevelt regime. The convicted German, now under a death sentence for the kidnapping and murder of the Lindbergh babe, may have had accomplices—even one of whom might have crushed the Lindbergh first-born to death—but the indisputable fact remains that Hauptmann had the ransom money in his possession, and on this ground alone his death by the state is entirely justified.

If a person has a lot of sympathy to hand out, there are plenty of men and women entitled to it—millions hungry and cold. Why spew it over a gangster?

Bad "Toofie" Drives Man to Terrorist Deeds

"A madman," thought residents of south Niles, one day last week, when they saw a transient in what appeared to be convulsions and at the same time shrieking and tearing his hair.

Calling their children in off the street, the residents notified officers, who arrived in a great hurry and seized the alleged maniac. His actions, authorities found, were justified by a terrific toothache, which the unfortunate, whose name was Vincent Greb, stated had been "driving him crazy" for several hours.

Greb promised to stop terrorizing the populace and have the tooth pulled as soon as he arrived in Oakland, his destination.

BENEFIT WHIST IS OUTSTANDING IN CHURCH ANNALS

With more than fifty tables of whist, numerous prizes, and a huge candy sale, the Corpus Christi benefit card party, held Tuesday night in Niles, was considered as one of the best affairs of its kind in recent years.

Members of the parish, as well as industrial plants and businesses throughout the community, contributed more than a score of valuable prizes. Committee members stated their appreciation to all who assisted.

Under the general chairmanship of Mrs. E. Dixon Bristow, the following committee heads did their respective tasks to perfection: Mrs. Mario Moise, refreshments; Mrs. Clarence Crane, candy sale; Mrs. Bert Silveria, prizes; Mrs. J. Gomes, tickets; Miss Celeste Bunker and Joe Gomes, door.

Miss Gertrude Keller had charge of extra table, punches and score cards. Miss Cecelia Enos, grammar school teacher, received special commendation for her splendid work in designing and painting the posters for the affair.

Mrs. Tony Vargas was given thanks for her immense box of home-made candy, which netted a good sum.

PLEASANTON AGAIN BEATEN BY NILES AGGREGATION

Although the Niles C of C. juggernaut was in rolling trim again Sunday, it experienced a trifle rougher going than usual, when the Pleasanton nine threatened local talent on the Niles diamond. The final score was 7 to 5, somewhat lower than the usual count in Niles string of eleven straight wins.

With Duke Dutra on the hummock for the entire nine frames, the Pleasanton nine was held to eight scattered hits, spacing their five runs evenly. Dutra struck out eight, and walked three.

Clarence Pine, wily backstop, led the Niles hitters with three hits in four times at bat. Ed. Rose, third-sacker, hit safely twice in five trips. Base stealing was the pastime of the day for Niles, with seven bags copped on the Pleasanton aggregation. Considerable fooling around and a number of errors for Niles cut down on the latter's scoring chances.

Now Relieve Your Cold "Quick as You Caught It"

1. Take 2 BAYER Aspirin Tablets. Make sure you get the BAYER Tablets you ask for.
2. Drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.
3. If throat is sore, crush and stir 3 BAYER Aspirin Tablets in a third of a glass of water. Gargle twice. This eases throat soreness almost instantly.

For Amazingly Fast Results Remember Directions in These Simple Pictures

It is recognized as a safe, sure, QUICK way. For it will relieve an ordinary cold almost as fast as you caught it.

Ask your doctor about this. And when you buy, be sure that you get the real BAYER Aspirin Tablets. They dissolve (disintegrate) almost instantly. And thus work almost instantly when you take them. And for a gargle, Genuine Bayer Aspirin Tablets disintegrate with speed and completeness, leaving no irritating particles or grittiness.

BAYER Aspirin prices have been decisively reduced on all sizes, so there's no point now in accepting other than the real Bayer article you want.
